

ABOUT NEIL RERUP

Neil is the Host of The Transitions Network (TTN) and ECSA's President, Chief Architect, and author of the Amazon best-selling "Hands-On Cybersecurity for Architects".

TTN is a media content company focused on providing information and guidance to people 50+ that are approaching retirement or have already retired. Neil interviews experts in the area and creates Podcast information. TTN has partnerships with UCLA Longevity Center and 'Live and Invest Overseas'.

ECSA is a company that provides Architecture Services based on our Architecture-as-a-Service outsourcing offering for Enterprises and large organizations around the world. Neil is responsible for putting forward the Strategic Plans and Architectures, both Enterprise and Project, for ECSA Clients.

Neil recently held the roles of Chief Security Architect, Chief Data Architect, and de facto Chief Architect for ONxpress Operations Inc., a Private/Public partnership between the Government of Ontario and a consortium of companies to upgrade the Greater Toronto Region (and beyond) Urban Transit system.

During his career, Neil has been involved with numerous clients across North America and around the world. He was the Security Architect for the Vancouver 2010 Olympic Games (including the Enterprise Architect for the Main Media Center) and BC Hydro's Enterprise Security Architect, which included being responsible for the Smart Meter Program's security architecture. He also developed EDS' Application SDLC Portfolio and was the Security Architect for the creation of EDS Advanced Solutions.

Some of the other projects Neil has been involved in are the development of architectures for Payments Canada, SC Johnson, GM Defense and the Bank of Canada, development of Architectures (both Policy and Technological levels) for the City of Calgary, as well as handled the Outsourced projects for such clients as Scotiabank, TD Bank, the BC Min. of Prov. Revenue and BC Pensions. He also helped bring Best Buy Canada into PCI compliance.

An avid sports coach, Neil has over 83 seasons of coaching experience teaching youth the sports of Basketball, Soccer, and Football. He is a Certified University-level Football coach and has won numerous Provincial championships in Football, Basketball, and Soccer.

Neil is married, has 2 adult sons, and lives in Tsawwassen, BC.